

THE LURAY MEMORIAL

FINE HOME FOR ORPHANS OF SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

IN MEMORY OF WINNIE DAVIS.

Plans Drawn by Messrs. Hunt and Marie, of This City—Fund Being Raised by Public Subscription—Description of the Building.

Plans have been completed by Messrs. Albert F. Hunt and Louis E. Marie, well-known architects of this city, for the Winnie Davis memorial, to be built at Luray, Page county, Va. The detail work will be finished about February 1st, and the building will be erected as soon thereafter as possible.

The building is to be used as a home for the orphan children of American sailors and soldiers. It will be picturesquely situated on the top of the hill at Luray—the site having been given for this purpose—and it will be so arranged that the space may be added at any future time to the space provided in the plans is found to be insufficient to meet the demands. The building will be of stone, built of local material. It will contain work-shops, a bath, a hall, a recreation-rooms, as-

be a central, and the central tower of the building will be arranged for observatory purposes. The building, as will be seen from the accompanying cut, is a very handsome one. It will be of Kentucky sandstone and the trimmings will be of local stone rubble work. MONEY BY POPULAR SUBSCRIPTION. The design of the architects has already been accepted by Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton, who originated the idea of such a memorial. The money for the building is being raised by popular subscription through Dr. Wharton, who has the matter in charge. This well-known evangelist is the president of the American Orphanage Association, and this memorial building will be one of several that have been raised for philanthropic purposes through his efforts.

Dr. Wharton reports that he is meeting with great success in raising the funds for this work, which will appeal very strongly to the southern people and to all who know and loved the daughter of the Confederacy, whose memory is so fondly cherished in this section of the country.

First Monocle of the Season.

(New Orleans Times-Democrat.) One of the large hotels in the business district received a guest last Wednesday, who, for the time being, attracted the undivided attention of everybody on the office floor, from the chief clerk to the head boot-black. The stranger was a trim, middle-aged gentleman with a smooth-shaven aquiline face and an air of a citizen of the world. He wore a stylish suit of brown check, and, save for one detail, there was nothing about him to excite special curiosity or remark. That detail was too much for him, and in just six minutes by the watch he had been a retreat to his room. When he returned his ornament had disappeared, nor did he resume it during his stay. "It was the first monocle of the winter season," said the head clerk, apologetically, "and that's why it roused so much interest. Ordinarily we do not become excited over monocles. We accept them calmly and make no extra charge for them in our rates. Last winter three gentlemen attached to monocles stopped with us at one time. They caused hardly a ripple."

How She Got Her Money's Worth.

(Chicago Times-Herald.)

Mr. and Mrs. Mellish recently moved here from an eastern city and rented a house in Hyde Park. Mrs. Mellish made her first downtown shopping trip a few days ago, and it was rather late in the afternoon when she had finished looking at things she didn't want to buy. Then she went over to the Van Buren street station, handed out a quarter and asked for a ticket to Hyde Park. The agent pushed out 15 cents in change and a perforated piece of cardboard.

Mrs. Mellish is a woman. Once she heard of a man who bought a railway ticket, put it in his pocket without examining it, and when he got on the train found that it would take him only about half way to the place for which he had started. So she made it a practice always to be sure that she is getting what she wants when she buys a ticket of any kind.

Mrs. Mellish said after she had carefully read what was printed upon her piece of cardboard, "this is a ticket to Woodlawn. I want to go to Hyde Park." "It's all right, madam," replied the man at the window, "that will take you to Hyde Park. Woodlawn is farther out. You leave the train at any station this side."

"But I don't want to pay for a ticket to Woodlawn when I'm not going that far," she declared.

"The fare is the same to both places," she was told. "It would cost you ten cents if your ticket read Hyde Park or Woodlawn. All passengers for Hyde Park have Woodlawn tickets. Step aside, please, and don't keep others waiting."

Mrs. Mellish put the ticket in her purse and went out to the platform, where she interviewed a number of people on the subject to make sure that she was not being victimized.

When Mr. Mellish got home that night his wife was waiting for him. "I have, from Woodlawn," she replied.

"What have you been doing at Woodlawn?" he asked.

"I'm going to pay for a ticket to Woodlawn and get off at Hyde Park. No! It's perfectly outrageous the way these railroad companies scheme to get the best of people!"

There is a large number of delinquent taxpayers on the list in City Collector Cunningham's office, and unless the bills are taken up before the end of the year, the usual penalty will be imposed, and the names will be posted.
